IF TURKEY MARCHES.

GREAT CONSEQUENCES DEPENDENT ON THE PORTE'S ACTION.

The Oriental Situation More Warlike—Europe on the Ragged Edge of a Grand Row—The "Sick Man" Shows a Stiffening Backbone.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 23.—An official communication published in La Turquie states that the events in Roumelia necessitates the intervention of the porte. Turkey, it says, will accomplish her duty and suppress the revolt, acting with firmness but exercising moderation.

It is reported that Turkey has decided to fight for the restoration of the status quo in Roumelia.

The government of Turkey has made a firm protest against the systematic persecution of Turkish subjects in southern Russia.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—A London cablegram says: The situation in the Balkans is more warlike. It is evident that the revolution is the work of Bulgarian secret committees. Therefore it may break out in another spot without a moment's warning. The Balkans are dotted with bonfires and every pass is occupied by the levy en masse of men between 18 and 40. Russian officials deny any knowledge of the origin of the movement. This ignorance is incredible, because Russian officers have been passing Bucharest to the front, because the Bulgarian army is practically a Russian organization, and because the creation of this Great Bulgaria is a severe blow to Austria, and has long been one of the objects of Russian diplomacy. It will be remembered that at the Berlin conference Beaconsfield threatened to withdraw, which meant war, unless Bulgaria and Roumelia were separated. Russia yielded willingly, but, having found Alexander not pliable enough, she now desires to depose him, but to keep things as they now are.

King Milan of Servia said: "Unless we are all going to be kept quite together I must be one of the first to move in Servia and Austria are forced to intervene."

All agree that if Turkey marches the consequences will be incalculable. The marquis of Salisbury, who is largely responsible for the present movement, is the worst possible man to be at the head of England now. He is a believer in secret diplomacy, and therefore it is quite likely that parliament will be hastily summoned if matters grow worse.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—To the complications in which Turkey is involved with Eastern Roumelia is added trouble of the most serious kind in Servia, where the Albanians of Djakovo have risen almost to a man. Meagre reports are printed in the London newspapers of a fearful encounter between the Turks and Albanians at Djakovo, in which it is represented that both sides lost heavily. There was a heavy decline in Servian bonds on the Berlin bourse, these securities depreciating four points.

A large and enthusiastic crowd, including many students, welcomed King Milan at the depot in Belgrade on his return from Vienna. Cries of "Forward, all Servians!" greeted his majesty on all sides. The first summons issued mobilizes 60,000 troops. The inhabitants have demanded that old Servia and Macedonia be protected.

The "Sick Man's" troubles, however, do not end with Roumelia and Servia. Turkish subjects in southern Russia have been undergoing a regular system of persecution from the czar's officials, and the appeals to the home government have at last resulted in a firm protest from Turkey to St. Petersburg against further persecutions in this direction.

Advices from the east tell of the triumphant arrival of Prince Alexander of Bulgaria at Philippopolis, where a great crowd surrounded the palace and sang the te deum, while from all the buildings fluttered the Bulgarian national flag. There are also reports of the mobilization of the Austrain army, owing to the excitement in the Balkan states (though this is pronounced untrue by a later Vienna dispatch), while the news is confirmed that the Servian army is being mobilized, and troops are being sent to protect the southern frontier bordering on Macedonia and Albania, where there are fears of uprisings.

According to Constantinople advices, the porte's backbone is stiffening and it has been decided to fight for the restoration of the status quo in eastern Roumelia.

Turkey Mobilizing Troops.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 23.—The third corps of the Turkish army, which is stationed at Anatolia, is being mobilized, and its equipment strengthened. The officials of the Adrianople railway have been ordered by the government to prepare for the transportation of troops and to suspend all other traffic.

The Turkish government has addressed to Russia a firm protest against the systematic persecution of Turkish subjects in southern Russia.

Eaton's Alleged Resignation.

WASHINGTON CITY, Sept. 23.—It now appears that Civil Service Commissioner Eaton tendered his resignation several months ago. The impression exists that Eaton's withdrawal will probably result in the entire reorganization of the commission and in material changes in the rules. The president, it is said, will endeavor, in forming a new commission to secure men who will carry weight with the country. The Star suggests the names of Allan G. Thurman, of Ohio; James E. English, of Connecticut, and Andrew D. White, of New York, as the three commissioners. The motion was discussed at the cabinet meeting Tuesday, but no action taken.

French Canadians Excited.

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 23.—The burning of Riel in effigy at the military camp at Kingston has caused great excitement among French Canadian volunteers, and it is understood that the militia will be forced to take cognizance of the fact and punish those who took part in the affair. Governor Dowdney has a strengthened guard placed over Riel at Regina, as he has reason to believe that, his execution having been deferred, attempts will be made by Orangemen to take him in their own hands and make way with him.

Treated Domestic Troubles "Heroically."

From Quebec to the Pacific.

MONTREAL, Sept. 23.—The North Shore railway passed into the possession of the Canadian Pacific Railway company Tuesday. The purchase price is understood to be $5,000,000. The eastern terminus of the Canadian Pacific will now be at Quebec until the short line to the Atlantic is completed.

FRED GRANT IN ILLINOIS.

How He Was Greeted by His Father's Old Comrades.

NEOGA, Ills., Sept. 23.—Grant's old regiment, the Twenty-first Illinois, held its reunion here Tuesday, and was was made more interesting to the veterans by the presence of Col. Fred Grant, who was warmly greeted for his father's sake, being kept busy shaking hands with his father's old comrades. One old soldier on grasping the colonel's hand, exclaimed: "Well, now, I declare, if you haven't beat me in the matter of size, after all. Good Lord, colonel! Do you remember how the old man, the general I mean, came nigh ordering me under arrest for skylarking with you when I was on entry duty? Why, you were scarce more than chicken-high at that time. I'd be willing to be put under arrest fifty times now if he was only here to do it."

When the last of the orators on the programme had concluded his speech, from every part of the house there were calls for a speech from the son of their old commander. The colonel blushed and looked uneasy, but finally came to the front and cleared his throat for action. There was a wild outburst of greeting, through which could be heard such expressions as, "He is a chip of the old block." "Your father didn't like speech-making, but he knew what to say at the right time." "Fred, you're one of the family." With a smile of acknowledgement the colonel said: "I do not intend to make you a speech, for I have not been trained as a public talker. I have here a document that I would like to read you. It is the last line written by my father upon matters pertaining to the war, and has never before been made public. As he entered into the war with you for his first companions, and as he always spoke of your regiment with affectionate interest, it is fitting that you should be the first to hear his parting words."

He then read a note written by the general just before his death, in which he rejoices at the drawing together of the north and south in stronger bonds of friendship, which was greeted with a general "Amen!"

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS TABOOED.

St. Louis Roman Catholic Children Not Allowed to Attend Them.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 23.—A sensation was created, last Sunday, when Father McCaffrey, parish priest of St. Patrick's church, declared that he would prepare no child for its first communion that attended the public schools. Rev. Father Richardson, pastor of St. Vincent de Paul's church, was interviewed, and said that Father McCaffrey's declaration was in perfect accord with the ideas of the Catholic clergy of the city.

"You say it is a common practice to refuse children who attend the public schools their first communion. Do you refuse them this privilege?"

"Most certainly. No child can be given first communion unless he has been properly prepared for it. This cannot be done in the public schools, since they give no religious instructions there. Those who go to the public schools are, more over, unfitted for this duty, by contact with the Godless and with forms of vice they would not meet within their own schools. The reason for this is said to be the heavy desertions from the parochial to the public schools."

The President Will Investigate.

WASHINGTON CITY, Sept. 23.—The president, after considering the representations of the civil service reformers of New York, has determined to make a thorough investigation of the removal of Chief Weigher Bacon, of the New York custom house, and the appointment of George H. Sterling in his place. Monday afternoon Dorman B. Eaton, of the civil service commission, was at the White House for more than an hour. He had just returned from New York, after carefully investigating this case, and told the president all that he had learned about it. As a result the president directed Secretary Manning to order the suspension of Sterling pending investigation which the president himself will make. He will probably ask Collector Hedden for an explanation as the first step. If the charges made against Sterling be proved he will be promptly removed and Collector Hedden will be held to a strict accountability.

Women Pleading for a Life.

AUGUSTA, Me., Sept. 23.—A dramatic scene was enacted in the council chamber Tuesday, when a delegation of ladies appeared before the council and asked that the death sentence of Mrs. Mary Barrows, the Kittery murderess, be commuted to life imprisonment. The ladies prayed and presented a petition signed by 1,400 women of Maine. It is thought the petition will be successful.

CIRCUS AND CYCLONE.

BARNUM'S TENTS TOYED WITH BY THE FRISKY TORNADO.

The Whole Concern Converted into a Balloon—Many People Injured, But None Killed—Ground to Powder in a Stone-Crusher.

TITUSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 23.—Barnum's show exhibited here, Tuesday, and during the afternoon performance a cyclone struck the tents, carrying them up in balloon shape. The canvas afterward collapsed on the crowd in attendance. There were 10,000 tickets sold, but many persons, perceiving the storm approaching, made for the open air, leaving about 3,000 under the canvas. No one was killed, but many were injured. Ambulances were immediately sent to the circus, and all the doctors in the city were soon on the ground. The majority of those seriously hurt are farmers living within a radius of twenty miles, while a few live in the city.

The storm was similar to that which occurred at Cortlandt, N. Y., last year. The tent was torn into shreds, and the centerpoles fell, breaking arms and limbs, cutting people's heads open, and causing a terrible stampede. The seats were thrown about, women fainted, children screamed, and even strong men realized that it was a case of life or death. Many were injured from falling and being trampled upon by the crowd. Among those seriously injured are: Elder J. T. Oakley, of Lincolnville; Mrs. M. Ross, Titusville; William Megahey, Titusville; James Hasson, Venango; Mrs. Chase, living north of the town; Frank Smith, Cherrytree; John Noyes, Pleasantville.

In the menagerie the elephants got loose, but were quieted before any serious damage was done. The monkey cage was broken open, and a few of the monkeys gained their liberty. The wires of another cage containing wild animals were broken, but the keepers kept the beasts in till assistance arrived.

Imprisoned in a Mine.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Sept. 23.—Tuesday afternoon at Rockford, a dull explosion was heard in the direction of the leading coal mine of the Roan iron-works, and a report spread that a fire-damp explosion had occurred and ten miners were entombed in the seething furnace. The town became frantic and the mouth of the mine was a scene of the wildest excitement. The miners were imprisoned in the mine for two hours, but were at last rescued, comparatively uninjured. The extent of the damage can not yet be ascertained.

Horrible Death of a Boy.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 23.—John Ostermair, aged 14, employed in feeding the stone crusher at Sankey Bros.' brick-yard, on the south side, in some unaccountable manner fell into the revolving pan which carried his body under the two immense wheels each weighing two tons and making thirty revolutions per minute. Another employe discovering something the matter with the machinery went to the crusher and stopped it. All that could be seen of the boy was small pieces of bone and ground flesh.

Locked Their Children in the House.

POINT PLEASANT, W. Va., Sept. 23.—William Winter and his wife left home and locked their two children aged 3 and 5 years in the house Monday morning. They came back in the evening and found their house in ashes and the children burned to death. The mother said that the little ones had begged to be allowed to play under the trees while their parents were away but were refused.

Curious and Nearly Fatal Accident.

EUREKA, Ills., Sept. 23.—A curious and nearly fatal accident occurred here to the little son of Mr. Lewis, who lives near here. While playing with a wagon-hub ring, he slipped it over his head, which swelled from the injury therefrom so as to nearly kill him. The ring was got off by filing.

IMITATING THE PALL MALL GAZETTE.

A Chicago Paper Tells the Alleged Woes of the Fallen in That City.

CHICAGO, Sept. 23. — The Daily News Tuesday contained a four column article under the heading "An appalling revelation; rascally practices systematically perpetrated on the fallen women in Chicago; forced to purchase immunity from justice with the wages of their sin." The article goes on to say that the recent London disclosures of The Pall Mall Gazette find a horrible counterpart, though on a different plane, in the treatment of dissolute girls and women who fall into the clutches of the bail-sharks and officers who infest the Desplaines street police station in Chicago. The pith of the charges is that a "bail-shark," in collusion with the police, is getting most of the "wages of sin" the girls earn in the shape of money, by bailing them out when they are arrested, provided they have enough to pay for his services. It is asserted that the girls are arrested about twice a week to give this bail-shark something to do, the police being in the speculation and assisting the shark to work his business successfully. The News promises more of the same.

The Cigarmakers' Union.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 23.—In the Cigarmakers' International union, in session here, a committee will be selected to investigate the legality of the expulsions of unions 4 and 30, of Cincinnati, by the president. The president assigned as his reason for expelling said unions, that they had published and circulated pamphlets consisting mainly of insinuations and inuendoes against the chairman calculated to destroy his influence and to weaken the power of the International union. The hostilities of these unions against the international president grew out of the fact that he was opposed to the strike and insisted upon exercising his prerogative in mediating between the manufacturers and the men. The unions refused to recognize the prerogative, hence the trouble and the consequent expulsion, which the local unions throughout the United States sustained. The committee will be for the purpose of inquiring into the legality of the president action.

An Austrian Financier Sent Up.

VIENNA, Sept. 23.—The trial of Heinrich Kuffler, the broker and speculator, and one Amschler, for complicity in the frauds by which the Lower Austrian Discount bank was wrecked, was concluded Tuesday. Kuffler was convicted and sentenced to seven years imprisonment. Amschler was acquitted.

Iddesleigh Makes a Speech.

ABERDEEN, Sept. 23.—Lord Iddesleigh addressed a large meeting here Tuesday night. In the course of his speech he expressed doubt that the question of free education was a popular one, and thought the land question of such importance as to merit the first instead of the third place in Mr. Gladstone's manifesto.

MOBBING THE "HEATHEN CHINEE."

Five Hung to Trees for Murder—Another Raid Out West.

LEWISTON, I. T., Sept. 23.—Five Chinamen, implicated in the murder of Daniel Frazier and a robbery in Pierce City, were taken from jail by citizens Tuesday night and hanged to convenient trees.

Mr. Frazier, who was one of the pioneers of Southern Idaho, was well known and respected. His room in the rear of his store was entered on the night of the 11th inst., and he was murdered and his body horribly mutilated. An attempt was then made to blow open the safe, which was unsuccessful. The tracks on the outside of the building showed that a Chinaman had done the deed. In the next five days fifteen Chinamen were arrested, and finally five confessed to the deed. These were taken out and summarily disposed of.

SEATTLE, Wy. T., Sept. 23.—A masked mob drove all the Chinese out of town at Black Diamond mines Monday night and burned their houses. The Celestials had all been discharged and were going to leave, and the "demonstration" is supposed to have been made as an intimation that all the Chinese must go.

Slow Business at Rock Springs.

ROCK SPRINGS, Wy. T., Sept. 23.—As a result of resuming operations in the mines here, so far but ten cars have been loaded with coal. The capacity of the mines is about 500 cars per day. There were even fewer Chinese at work Tuesday than Monday. "Only seven days to leave or you will walk out on foot," is the alternative of miners, who decline to work with the Chinese. A large number of miners have erected dwellings in town, improved the lots bought from the company, and now they are given the choice of working with the Celestials or leaving within a week and abandoning their property, or staying with it and starving. Gen. Schofield left for the east on a special train Tuesday evening.

RACE-COURSE AND DIAMOND.

Events at Chicago and Louisville—Base Ball Scores.

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—The first day of the fall meeting at Washington park opened Tuesday with a light attendance, cold weather and a high wind, which interfered seriously with speed. The first race was for the 5-year-old stakes, best three in five in harness, and was won by Early Dawn in the three last heats, Elvira second, Lizzie Wilkes third; best time, 2:21½. Second race, 2:19 class; Bonnie McGregor won in three straight heats, Maggie G. Middleton second, Butter Scotch third; best time, 2:23. Last race, Northwestern 2-year-old stakes, 1 mile; best two in three in harness; Diatonic took the two first heats, Ara second, Sarah Cossack distanced; best time, 2:40.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 23.—First race Tuesday, 1 mile; Conkling first, Lady Wayward second, Malaria third; no time. Second race, ⅝ mile; Sis Himyar first, Silver Cloud second, Porter Ashe third; time, 1:01½. Third race, 2 miles; Tenbooker first, Irish Pat second; time, 3:40. Fourth race, ¾ mile heats; Forest first, Chance second, Bettina third; time, 1:15.

Base Ball.

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—League ball games Tuesday resulted as follows: At Chicago—Providence 5, Chicago 8; at Detroit—Philadelphia 1, Detroit 4—seven innings; at St. Louis—Boston 9, St. Louis 4. Association games resulted: At New York—St. Louis 5, Metropolitan 0—seven innings; at Brooklyn—Cincinnati 3, Brooklyn 2—five innings.

Race Arranged.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 23.—It has finally been agreed that the double-scull race between Hanlan and Lee and Courtney and Conley will take place at Pleasure Island on Oct. 13.

YE HONEST OHIO GRANGER.

He Don't Propose to Lose Money by Hog Cholera.

AKRON, Ohio, Sept. 23.—Several carcasses of diseased pork have been seized in the Akron markets. An investigation shows that hog cholera exists in every quarter of the county, several hundred porkers being down with the disease. As soon as it appears the owners kill the affected hogs and send them to market. The discovery has caused much commotion in this city, and the council is asked to forbid sale of pork in Akron for a month.

Latest Thing in Monuments.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Sept. 23.—The Jumbo car arrived Tuesday with the stuffed elephant Tom Thumb, as a passenger. Keeper Scott, Jumbo's old friend, says the people of St. Thomas, Can, are raising a subscription of $30,000 for the purpose of building a splendid monument to the memory of Jumbo. It is thought the little elephant will recover.

ONE DAY'S WORK

IN THE NEW YORK REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION

Shows That Carr Has the Lead for the Nomination—Speeches of the Chairmen—The Democratic Outlook Favorable to Hill.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Sept. 23.—The Republican state convention met at the Casino at 12:20 p. m. Tuesday, and was called to order by J. D. Warren, chairman of the state committee, who announced Senator Warner Miller for temporary chairman. Rev. Dr. Leach, of Albany, invoked the blessing of God upon the deliberations of the convention, and then Senator Miller made a short address in which he urged a straightforward adherence to the principles of protection. He referred to the southern states, and remarked that not one of them had a government elected by the people, and claimed that the Republican party was committed to civil service reform, and had first put it into practical operation.

Temporary secretaries were then appointed, the usual committees provided for, and the convention took recess until 4:30 p. m.

It was 4:50 p. m. when the convention was called to order again. The chairman announced that the first business in order was the report of the committee on contested seats, and this business was successfully concluded with good feeling, Gen. Saarpe remarking in the course of the debate on the Albany contest that the principal evidence against the Republicanism of certain delegates seemed to be that they had Irish names. He thought it high time that the fact of a man being Irish should no longer be taken as prima facie evidence that he was a Democrat. [Laughter.]

The committee on permanent organization reported for permanent chairman Hon. James W. Husted, a list of secretaries, and a long list of vice presidents. The report was adopted and amid great applause Gen. Husted took the chair. He said:

GENTLEMEN OF THE CONVENTION: Your committee on resolutions will presently report a platform of principles which will be the political chart in the pending canvass. In consideration of that fact and of the admirable address of your distinguished temporary chairman, I feel it beyond my part to voice even indirectly the views which you yourselves soon will be called upon to express. Suffice it to say that the great party which saved the Union will insist that the principles which guided it in the hour of peril will be hereafter, as heretofore, recognized as the key and cornerstone of the arch of national safety. Honest money, an honest ballot and an honest count, and protection to every form of American industry will forever be the cardinal doctrines of the Republican party. [Applause.]

We stand to-day on hallowed ground. On yonder mountain, in sight of that historic battle hill where the continental soldiers won the victory that made the nation, died the great captain who by his powers and skill saved for all time what the continental soldiers had gained. The whole world wept at his bier, the whole people of America mingled their tears of sympathy with those of his loving household and poured into their bleeding hearts the balm of consolation. But though dead he yet liveth. For his memory is enshrined in the grateful hearts of his bereaved countrymen. Soldier, statesman, patriot, sage, one of the few names that were not born to die. Under the shadow of that grand name we meet here to-day to renew our fidelity to principles for which he fought and to fight it out ourselves on that line until the leaves fall in November. [Applause.]

Gentlemen, thanking you for your courtesy and regard I await the further pleasure of the convention.

A motion was made and adopted that the convention proceed with the nomination of candidates for governor. After a brief discussion, during which an unsuccessful attempt was made to adopt a motion for an informal ballot, Mr. Charles D. Baker, of Steuben, placed in nomination the name of Ira Davenport, of Steuben county. Then followed the nomination of the other candidates as follows: L. P. Morton, Joseph B. Carr, James D. Warren, John D. Swinburne, Joseph W. Drexel, Cornelius N. Bliss, William H. Seward.

Edward W. Hatch. of Erie, nominated James D. Warren, the state committee chairman. During a pause in Mr. Hatch's remarks a crowd of several men outside the line of delegates shouted loudly for Swinburne the laboringman's candidate. Hearty applause was aroused by the casual mention of ex-President Arthur's name.

Mr. Fassett moved that one ballot be taken and an adjournment then had till morning. Lost by a strong dissenting viva voce vote. A motion to proceed to a ballot for governor was then adopted and a call of the roll by districts taken.

The roll-call resulted as follows: Davenport, 105; Carr, 205; Seward, 57; Swinburne, 32; Low, 16; Warren, 137; Drexel 37; Bliss, 53; Cornell, 4; Evarts, 1; Storm 1; Charles Andrews, 1; Morton, 42. Whole number of votes cast 691. Necessary for a choice 347.

At the conclusion of the first ballot the convention at 8:30 p. m. adjourned for the day.

THE DEMOCRATS GATHERING.

Many delegates to the Democratic state convention are now arriving and there was a pretty good representation of both the political parties around the hotels Tuesday night. As yet all that can be said of the Democratic situation is that Hill is evidently the leading favorite for governor with Cooper following him closely.

One well-informed gentleman who is here in the interest of Cooper concedes Hill 155, and Flower about 70. This leaves Hill only 38 short of the 193 votes required to make a nomination. It is believed that Cooper's friends will not carry their opposition to Hill far enough to afford any danger of a split in the party if Hill develops great strength.

Sentenced To Be Hanged.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Sept. 23.—Robert Fowler, who has been ontrial in Morganfield, Ky., for the past week for the murder of his niece, Miss Lydia Burnett, was Tuesday afternoon found guilty of the crime. The jury after being out but a short time returned their verdict and sentenced Fowler to be hung. The time has not yet been set for the event. The jury's verdict was received with universal gratification.

For Counterfeiting Uncle Sam's Notes.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 23.—In the United States district court Tuesday, James Howard, William Howard and James Gordon, of Rochester, convicted of counterfeiting, were sentenced by Judge Cox as follows: James Howard, $100 fine and ten years in Erie county penitentiary; William Howard and Gordon, each $100 and eight years imprisonment.

Obituary.

WASHINGTON CITY, Sept. 23.—Commodore Alex A. Semmes, the commandant at the Washington navy yard died at 4 p. m. Tuesday at Hamilton, a Virginia village, twenty-four miles from here, after an illness of about ten days.

Larry Finnegan's Vandalism.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 23.—Larry Finnegan, a sort of crank, was arrested Tuesday for mutilating the statues of lions at the Calvert street bridge. About a year ago the statues were injured by some one, their tails being knocked off and it is supposed Larry was the culprit at that time. This time the statues are nearly ruined and it will be a difficult matter to restore them to anything like their former appearance. The tongues and teeth and the claws of the lions are knocked off, and the figures are otherwise badly marred. The work of vandalism was done with a hatchet and Larry's Irish black thorn stick. The prisoner waived examination before the police justice and was committed to jail for the action of the criminal court.

The Vice President and an Office.

WASHINGTON CITY, Sept. 23.—Vice President Hendricks is said to have informed the president that he is impressed with the belief that a change in the office of surgeon general of the Marine hospital service is neither wise nor expedient, and that he has accordingly withdrawn the name of Dr. Matthews, whom he had previously urged for the place. It is also said that he will oppose the appointment of Dr. Walling on the same grounds. The resignation of Surgeon General Hamilton has not been accepted, and the impression is growing that he will retain the office.

Vice President Hendricks denies the truth of published reports that he is championing anybody for the surgeon generalship of the Marine hospital service, or that he has seen the president or any member of the cabinet in the interest of Dr. Matthews, of Louisville, or any other candidate for the place.

May Her Aim Be Better in Future.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 23.—Michael E. Foley who assaulted his wife Monday night with a hatchet and who in turn received two bullets from a pistol in her hands was arraigned in police court Tuesday together with his wife Anna, and ruquired to answer to a charge of breach of the peace only. They were such fined $15 which they paid and left the station-house in a hack together, after shaking hands. Foley was one of the well known song and dance team of Foley and Wade and they appeared together in all parts of the country most recently with Harrigan & Hart. He has kept a saloon here for six months. His wife is quite wealthy.

Advancing Passenger Rates.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—The presidents of the Trunk lines have ordered west-bound rates advanced Oct. 5, as follows: First-class, 60 cents; second, 50 cents; third, 40 cents; fourth, 25 cents; fifth, 20 cents. The present highest rate is 40 cents, and the lowest 15 cents. The presidents adjourned sine die.

Enthusiastic Irishmen.

DUBLIN, Sept. 23.—A large and enthusiastic National league meeting was held here Tuesday. Many contributions were received, among them $3,000 from San Francisco. Votes of thanks were passed and the usual speeches made.

Swindle in Government Surveying.

WASHINGTON CITY, Sept. 23.—The Bank of Nevada and several banks in San Francisco have been urging the payment of advances made by them to surveyors of public lands. Commissioner Sparks does not recognize the banks as having any legal or equitable claim on the government, and holds that their advances to surveying contractors is purely a matter of private business. He says the practice of the San Francisco banks of advancing money on surveying contracts has led to the survey of uninhabitable, mountainous, and desert regions, to a premature survey of valuable timber and agricultural lands, followed by their appropriation through fraudulent entries by rich syndicates of large corporations, and to the exclusion of actual settlers from lands ostensibly surveyed for their benefit.

Apparent Murder of a Postal Clerk.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 23.—The crew of the west-bound Vandalia train, which left here at 11 o'clock for St. Louis, Monday night, returned here, Tuesday night, with the body of James B. Green, the postal clerk, who met his death under mysterious circumstances. When near Vandalia they went into the car which Green occupied alone, and found his body on the floor with the skull crushed in, he evidently having just bee killed. Three tramps who were riding on the platform and could not get off on account of the high rate of speed, and on whose clothes blood was found, were arrested, the theory being that Green had tried to put them out, and they killed him with a club. This they deny, saying that he stuck his head out the door and it was struck by something. Green lived at Greenfield, and has a wife and children.

High Rent.

[Chicago Herald.]

The highest rent paid in Germany, it is thought, is that which is obtained for a little niche on the staircase leading down to the famous Breslau restaurant, the Schweidnitz Cellar, used by a sausage vender for the frying and sale of his savory ware. The place is barely large enough to admit a small table with a frying pan on, and a stand for the vender behind it; yet at a public auction by the city authorities the lease of it for a term of years was knocked down to the highest bidder at 5,500 marks per annum—which is 1,650 marks less than was paid by the last lessee.

Rot Among the Potatoes.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 23.—From various localities in this region come reports of the rotting of the potatoes in the fields. The yield, which would be a very large one, will be greatly reduced in consequence. In Wayne county, entire fields are rotted to such an extent that they are not worth digging.

Prosecuting the Press.

MADRID, Sept. 22.—Eighty-five persons connected with the press in Madrid have been prosecuted by the government for inciting anti-German riots and eighty similar prosecutions have been brought in the provinces.

Will Go Back on the Police.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—It is stated that the home secretary will disavow responsibility for the action of the police in breaking up the Socalist meetings Tuesday, and will mitigate the sentences of the prisoners.

HIS CONFIDENCE BETRAYED.

How the Book Agent Lost His Faith in Human Nature.

A young man engaged in traveling for a publishing firm opened the front gate of a house near Orange, N. J., and strode blithely up the path to the front door. The words "traveling for a publishing firm" are used here as the young man used them, but the dreadfully practical serving maid who answered the ring at the door announced to the master of the house that "wan ov thim book agints" awaited his pleasure on the piazza. When the master of the house came out, all smiles, and courteously inquired how he could be of service to his visitor, the young man felt sure that he could sell at least one copy of "McCarthy's Record of Universal Information" and perhaps get a note of introduction to one of the neighbors. When the master of the house seated himself in a rustic chair, and observed in a particularly kind and interested manner that he had no doubt that the work would prove of more than usual value to any purchaser, no matter what his position in life, the young man felt ready to wager a small sum that the gentleman would take not only a copy for his own use, but two or three as presents to relatives.

"It is, no doubt, a valuable work," said the gentleman; "but has it any statistics?"

"Full of them, sir—full of them. A hundred pages of the most carefully prepared figures and—"

"Glad to hear it. But how about useful information?"

"Anything you want to know sir. Fifty pages without a break. Why, sir—"

"Yes, I have no doubt, but tell me are there historical facts enough to suit a practical man?"

"Entire history of the world sir, from the fall of Adam to the present time and more—"

"And reminiscences?"

"Half of the book is reminiscences, sir; every anecdote verified by affidavit and—"

"Any illustrations?"

"The best artists' work on every page," and for an hour the young man gave glowing descriptions of the contents of the book, its usefulness to the general public, and the danger likely to accrue to any family keeping house without it. Dinner time came and went and still the young man talked; perspiration rolled down his face in rivulets, but his energy never flagged. He went over the book section by section, chapter by chapter, and page by page. He was hungry, his jaw ached, but he was determined to talk until the gentleman's fortitude gave way. At last, at the proper moment, he produced his order book.

"How many copies may I put you down for?" he asked breathlessly, spreading the memorandum book upon his knee.

The gentleman hesitated. "Oh," said he at length, "you needn't put me down at all, as I am a member of the firm. I am pleased to see that you have learned your lesson very thoroughly. With perseverence you will make an excellent salesman, I assure you."

This will explain, in part, why the young man is now opening oysters in a South street restaurant, his hopes blighted, and his confidence in human nature grossly betrayed.

The British Baby and His Painter.

[Contemporary Review.]

The prevalent pictorial motive of our great painters for the last two or three years has been babies, and our old friend the British matron must have at least enjoyed this peculiarity to the full in the academy. There are, it is true, about five nude figures in the present exhibition, but it would not be much of an exaggeration to say that there are nearly 500 babies. Every variety of infantile healthiness or sickliness is displayed here. A new "Liliputian Warehouse" might be set up with shoes, socks, capes, frocks, and bonnets of these academic "innocents."

There is, I notice, one special kind of bonnet, like a miniature coal scuttle, lined with plaited satin, which is a great favorite with academicians, and which they have attained great skill in rendering. Shoes, also, particularly those with a strap and one button, are, like Osric's "carriages very dear to" their "fancy," and short white socks are also successfully treated in several instances. It is remarkable that in this, as of course in all the less important branches of their art, the academicians and associates surpass the outside artists. There are not only a larger number of academic babies, but they are bigger, chubbier, and better dressed than the others.

The average toilet of one of these favored sucklings must cost about 20 pounds sterling and as it is invariably of spotless freshness, must be a somewhat costly element in the household expenses. The great apostle of this new "cry of the children" is an associate called Morris, who had the good fortune to discover, in a pictorial sense, the universal attractiveness of the "millinery baby."

Private Bartenders.

[New York Cor. Pioneer-Press.]

Well, the eccentricities of refreshment are curious indeed. The newest affectation in this line is the private bartender. He is not an importation from England, but is wholly, so far as I can learn, a New York production. He is in the exclusive employ of some wealthy dandy, for whom he is expected to mix drinks with as much skill as can be found in any gorgeous glass-slinger behind a public bar. The idea is said to have been original with Alfredo Talbarin, a rich young Brazilian, who had known only the harsh and primitive distillations of his native land before coming to New York to spend last winter. Here the varieties and novelties of the bar fascinated him.

In the midst of present joys he was not unmindful of that future in which his residence in Buenos Ayres must be resumed. Therefore he put his valet, a half-breed Brazilian Indian, already clever in toilet service, under the instruction of Harry Johnson, noted among New York able drinkers as a mixer of complicated beverages. This was talked about in the dandies' lounging places, and the advantages of having a bartender in one's own service seemed to strike the chappies, donchew know? Already a dozen valets of distinguished dudes have become proficient, and their masters' rooms are provided with cabinets from which the newest cocktails and the queerest mixed drinks are turned out.

GOOD, BAD AND INDIFFERENT BITS OF HUMOR.

Burdette on Railways—An Unfortunate Drummer—The Last Train—Why the Trees Sigh—Burning by Daylight—California Magnified.

[San Francisco Cor. Detroit Free Press.]

The Californian is a combination of the southerner and the Yankee. He willfully exaggerates as to the climate and resources of the coast, and he does not intend or believe that you to whom he makes them will consider them as true. He gives you the statements by wholesale, and expects you to discount them for cash. Let me give you some illustrations of the disposition to magnify on the part of old-timers. Said one Californian: "I planted pumpkin seed, and the vines grew so fast that they wore the pumpkins out dragging them over the ground, and I failed to get a crop."

Another talking of earthquakes said: "We have no such earthquakes now as we had in the early days. I remember in '49 times that a herd of buffalo was grazing in one of our valleys and an earthquake came along and swallowed them up, and all you could see for miles and miles was the tufts on the ends of their tails sticking up through the ground."

"We have no such rains in California," said another one, "as they have in Oregon. Why, up near Portland a farmer had a barrel out in his yard with the heads knocked in standing on end. It commenced raining. The overflow of the water came out of the bung hole owing to the heavy storm. That same year a neighbor of mine up there was roofing his house and a heavy fog came on and he shingled out on the fog before he discovered that he was off the roof."

Said another: "I was out sharpshooting with some companions; we saw a barrel coming down the mountain side, fired at the bung hole as the barrel turned over and when it got to the bottom we found seventeen bullets in the barrel." A rancher remarked: "Yes, we have some fertile soil in California. I have raised tomato vines forty feet long."

Well-Trained Employes.

[Chicago Herald.]

The manager gladdened the hearts of the members by ordering a drink, and after all had been served, he said: "I was talking today with a commercial friend of mine, and he told me a story about a drummer who called in at his place last week to sell some goods. The young man was very pertinacious, and the first man he encountered was the proprietor of the store, who told him that the buyer was up-stairs, and that they didn't care for anything in his line anyway. But the drummer insisted, and started up-stairs to see the buyer, who was busy with a customer. He saw the young drummer approaching and waved him off, but he started to open his sample-case and expatiate on the merits of his goods.

Finally he became very annoying and the buyer took him by the collar, led him to the head of the stairs and kicked him down. When he reached the first floor the proprietor saw him coming, and, imagining what was up, ran to meet him and kicked him as far as the office. A salesman who happened to be passing took a playful kick at the unfortunate Hebrew, and sent him as far as the door. Here the porter was standing, and he took the young man by the collar and kicked him into the street. He fell in the gutter with a dull thud, but his sense of 'business' did not desert him for a moment. Picking himself up, he looked back at the store admiringly, and ejaculated: "My Got, vot a sysdem!"

[Burdette in Brooklyn Eagle.]

"Russia is building a strategic railway to the Austrian frontier." You know what a strategic railway is, don't you? Buys its right of way from the farmers for an annual pass, then gets all the land condemned and takes up the passes, then gets a state grant of two or three counties for the directors, buys its iron on long time, and pays for its grading with construction bonds, then issues equipment bonds to pay for rolling stock, borrows all the money in the country on the mortgages, calls in everything outstanding and exchanges it for a deficit, changes its name from the "North and South Air line" to the "East and West Short line," divides the swag among the directors and runs the road on the deficit. It may be new in Russia, but its an old with us. Country's just full of strategic railways.

Force of Habit.

[Drake's Magazine.]

"Is this the last train north?" asked a stout little gentleman, rushing into a railway station.

"No, there is another in forty-five minutes. All aboard!" cried the conductor.

"Almost an hour to wait!" sighed the little man, dropping into a seat and mopping his brow with his handkerchief.

"But you have plenty of time to catch this train," said the conductor.

"This train? Well, I'm blamed; of course I have. I'm so used to catching the last train—whoop! hold on!" and the little gentleman bolted through the door for the cars.

Something About Gypsies.

[Chicago Tribune.]

A late writer on gypsies informs us that "Monge—who organized the Ecole Polytechnique, gave a new direction to public instruction in France, suggested the scientific expedition to Egypt in 1796, led it, and brought it, in spite of the ultimate defeat of the French army on the Nile, to a successful issue—was the son of gypsies, born in a van at a fair, and brought up, until he was of an age to go to school, in company with a dancing bear and other accomplished animals. Monge invented descriptive geometry. His early life was worked up by Victor Hugo in 'L'Homme qui Rit.' He also says that "Miss Neilson, the actress, derived her beauty from a gypsy mother. Sir Walter Scott had a good basis of reality in his pictures of gypsy life in 'Guy Mannering.' gypsies are not held in suspicion or dislike in France. Now and then they pilfer, but they are seldom accused of murder or great felonies. On the whole, they are industrious and thrifty, although they reside in vans and lead wandering lives."

GARDNER & HALEY, Prop. 710y1

A Novel feature in Investments.

The whole country after having undergone a period of depression is now asking itself, what business has least been affected and uninjured?

Such a business, industry or corporation, that can make a better showing now than before the crisis attracts the attention of capital, merits the confidence of investors and is being eagerly sought for.

There is such a business, and it has heretofore been monopolized by English and Scotch capital until some three hundred millions have been invested in the Ranch and Cattle business of this grea country.

Foremost amongst the strongest, richest and most successful American Companies stand the United States Land and Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York, which is now offering $500,000 First Mortgage 6% 10 Year Bonds, for subscription at 90 cash, or at par, upon a novel installment feature which appeals to the Farmer as well as the Banker, the Clerk and Mechanic as well as the Millionaire. and to all who desire to invest their savings, at better rates of interest than any bank will allow.

This Company issues certificates of indebtedness in One and Five Dollars, each representing an installment, and when the investor has purchased $50 of these certificates he becomes entitled to a $100 Gold Bond, First Mortgage, bearing 6% interest, which he can obtain upon presenting his certificates or forwarding them by letter to the Company's Office, at 145 Broadway, N. Y.

The remaining $50 due on the Bond being payable to the Compay in monthly installments not exceeding $5.

The bond commences to draw interest upon delivery the same as if fully paid. In addition to which the company gives as a Bonus, Free, one fully paid up share of stock of the value of $25.

Those desiring to buy their Bonds out right for cash can do so at 10 % discount in $100, $500 or $1000 Bonds and receive one, five or ten shares of stock Free. The Bonds are secured by property owned absolutely by the Company, estimated to be worth $3,000,000, and this money received from sale of Bonds will be invested in Cattle, the income from which it is estimated will yield 80% upon the stock after paying 6% on the Bonds.

Applications are being forwarded in great numbers daily, and all those who desire to subscribe should send at once for Prospectuses and full information to The United States and Land Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York.—'The Financier.' 821 519m3

DR. CARPENTER'S CALCULI RESOLVENT

VALUABLE DISCOVERY.

Bright's Disease, Gravel, and all Liver and Kidney Diseases, the result of Calculi or Stone composed of carbonates of lime and magnesia, etc., precipitated in the vital organs by the elimination of the carbonic acid gas from our drinking water, and vegetables, which contain these carbonates in large quantities.

UTERINE INFLAMMATION and other diseases of females have the same aggravating cause. Calculi also form in the Hepatic Duct causing derangement of the Liver and introducing a train of Stomach Diseases, as Dyspepsia, accompanied by Sour Stomach and Impure Breath. Other results of Calculi are Pains in the Back and Limbs, Neuralgia, Rheumatism and General Lassitude accompanied by derangement of the vital and secretory organs.

These Calculi are the same (with the addition of uric acid) as the deposits found in every teakettle. Calculi Resolvent disintegrates and causes them to pass away in fine particles without injury to the organs themselves, and cures the resultant disease, a result long sought by medical science, but never before attained.

Sold by Druggists generally. Price $1 per Bottle. Made only by the

THAT MURDER.

THE WEEKLY TELEGRAPH contains the only complete and full account published of the murder committed here last week. Extra copies on sale at this office.

—W. B. Vaughn, of Amboy, was here on business.

—Miss Mollie Dutcher spent Sunday in Franklin.

—Seventeen excursionists went west in company with John Hess.

—Michael Daily, of Harmon, insists that he had nothing to do with the beating of Mrs. Olsen.

—Thomas Brown and sister Lottie, of Franklin Grove, were visiting friends in our city Saturday and Sunday.

—Alderman H. P. Becker was quite ill last night but is about the house again to-day. We hope to see him out again soon.

—The Grand Jury adjourned this afternoon after finding six true bills of indictment. Nettleton and Mosse were indicted for murder.

—The Nachusa House blooms out with a splendid new bus; one having all the modern improvements, even a fire escape. "A thing of beauty is a joy for" the traveling man.

—There is a rumor through the country that a well-known citizen of Dixon was in some manner connected with the murder of Theil. No cause for such a suspicion has been developed by any of the evidence.

—John Grant has purchased the property adjoining Andy Graff's harness shop and will erect a very neat little store to be occupied by himself with his boot and shoe business. He will have the second story fitted up as residence rooms.

—In passing a team about three miles east of Rock Falls Monday evening, D. B. Strickler, of Sterling, upset his carrige and broke his arm. Editor A. Bayliss, of the Standard, was also in the carriage with his family. His little daughter had an arm broken and Mrs. Bayliss was much bruised.

—The Lee County Public School is a new paper just started by our Superintendent of schools, Samuel J. Howe, who is editor and proprietor. The paper is printed at THE TELEGRAPH office in usual good style which the printers here accomplish such work. The first number now before us indicates that Mr. Howe drops into editorial work as naturally as an old hand at it. It is a very neat eight paged paper with four columns to the page.

The Evidence of Guilt Accumulates

Another Link Forged—Still More Horrible as Facts Develop—A Murder Most Foul.

The readers of THE TELEGRAPH have probably noticed by the full reports we have given, each day, of the developments made by the officers in their search for evidence in unraveling the mistery which surrounded the horrible murder, which has so excited our people since the discovery of the boy Thiel's dead body, that there have been not only startling but remarkable discoveries worked out in a somewhat systematic manner. The most remarkable and damaging evidence discovered against the alleged murderer, Mosse, was made Monday when a ring which was probably worn by the murderer, and lost in the struggle incident to the killing of his poor victim, was found right there on the fatal spot. If the ring had been owned by the murderer its identification would be quite difficult, but, strange as it may appear, the jewel was borrowed and has been fully identified by the owner. The ring was found at the road-side only about fifteen feet from where the corpse was buried. It is not only very remarkable that it was found at all, but it appeares almost a miracle that it was not, before it was discovered, tramped into the ground by the hundreds—and we might say thousands—of people who have visited the fatal grounds since Saturday.

All day Sunday immense crowds, on foot and in cariages, were constantly coming and going from the scene of the murder. And thus it is remarkable that any article, as small as a ring, was not trampled into the ground from sight. Indeed, so remarkable is this last "find" that some people have considered it a suspicious circumslances in a line of evidence leading to the thought that some person other than Mosse may be guilty of the murder and is endeavoring to lead the officers estray. But this suggestion is slimsy. The party first discovering the ring, and marshal Woodyatt's presence at the time, and he, himself, first picking it from the ground, destroys any such theory. Officer Woodyatt has worked up the case in a most complete manner; performing diligent and intelligent work as a detective officer. The evidence so far appears to be as complete as circumstantial evidence could possibly be made.

ANOTHER LINK.

Yesterday there was forged another link in the wonderful chain of circumstantial evidence which has been wrought by the officers in ther efforts in showing that Mosse is undoubtedly the man guity of the boy Theil's murder. The watch-chain which Mosse had in his pocket when arrested, and which is stained with blood, and that the alleged murderer atempted to throw away, was partially identified as belonging to the victim. Yesterday there came from Elgin a man who had mended the chain for Theil, and he fully identified the article by his own work in soldering the broken link that connects the end piece. It is a remarkable fact that the alleged murderer preserved in his pocket this valueless chain; (it is plated, and probably not worth ten cents) which he had taken from his victim's body, supposing it to be gold, which soon becomes the principal evidence, with its bloody stains, in fixing the guilt upon the eager holder. The false glitter of that thin plating over that bogus chain was, doubtless, the "saint-seducing gold" that assisted in charming the wicked brute into murdering his "friend."

MOST HORRIBLE.

Doctor Paine, who examined the body very critically, believes that Theil was not killed in the first struggle with his murderer; but that he lived many hours, and that the fiend returned, perhaps the next day, or the following night, to find his victim alive, and then he cut the poor boy's throat, and finally dispatched him. The wound in the throat, by its appearance, indicates that it was made from twenty-four to thirty-six hours after the wounds on the head were cut. Furthermore, the other wounds would not have proved fatal, at least for several days; and the spots of blood upon the side of the culvert indicate that the throat was cut after the body was dragged into its hiding place.

—The Grand Jury at the present writing are at work on the Arthur Nettleton case. Nettleton is the young man who killed a neighbor recently at a charivari near Paw Paw. It will be one of the most interesting cases ever tried in our court; especially on account of the fact that the defence will endeavor to show that no crime was committed and that the fatal result was from an accident. Nettleton bears a good character and is related to leading citizens of that portion of our county. The officers having the young man in charge give him a walk about the city now and then, which indicates that they have a fellow feeling for him.

—Albert Yates has returned to Dixon. He has been employed as an attendant in the asylum at Elgin for several months.

—Mrs. Francis Seitz, widow of the late Isaac Seitz, of Dixon, died Sept. 17th, 1885, at the home of her son-in-law, Z. T. Stover, near Holstein, Iowa, aged fifty-nine years, six months and three days.

—Albert Strauss, conductor on the p'ug train from the depots to the water-power, has resigned and taken a train on the main line of the Central, out of Chicago. Conductor Clark, of Sterling, is now General manager of the D. W. D & W. P. road, with headquarters, some of the time, in front of this office.

—Miss Lida Henry, the younger sister of Mrs. Calvin Burkett, died Monday evening after a long and painful illness of heart disease; aged twenty-eight years. Her mother, Mrs. Eliza B. Henry, who removed from Pennsylvania to Dixon in 1877, and having passed her seventy-fifth year and had for many months been confined to her bed with general weakness, bore the news with a brave and christian spirit. But life's cord was too slender to bear the added burden, and while her daughter, Mrs. Burkett, was trying to have her take some nourishment, she turned her head away and without a struggle or sign of pain breathed her last at 7:40 last evening. A most singular and doubly sad bereavement for the four daughters whose hands had been unceasingly busy in sisterly endeavor to alleviate pain and provide every wish for a sister and mother. In their sorrow will they be joined by that of kind and sympathizing friends and neighbors.

—The ministers of the United States were requested by the National Temperance Society to preach last Sabbath on Doctor Rush's famous pamphlet, written a century ago, condemning the use of alcoholic drinks. In his sermon Sunday night, on this centenial of the Temperance Reform, Rev. L. M. Andrews disclosed some points in referance to Dr. Benj. Rush that will be of interest to our readers. Dr. Benj. Rush was born near Philadelphia in 1745; was educated at Princeton; studied medicine at Philadelphia, London, Edingburg and Paris medical colleges; and in 1769 returned home and was elected professor of Chemistry of the medical college at Philadelphia. He was elected to the Continental Congress in 1775 and signed the Declaration of Independence. Appointed Surgeon General from which he resigned because sufficient power was not given to prevent fraud on soldiers in hospitals In 1779 he was appointed Treasurer of the United States mint, which position he retained until his death in 1813. In 1785 he was recalled to the medical college where he founded the United States Dispensory of medicine, used in all our drug stores; wrote several pamphlets on medicine, among which was one entitled "Essay of Dr. Benj. Rush, on the effects of ardent spirits on human mind and body." From this the temperance movement in this country originated and has spread as we now know. In religion Dr. Rush was a Universalist. He became interested in John Murray's preaching in 1773; and assisted in organizing the society at Philadelphia and as a member of the celebrated convention of Universalists in Philadelphia, 1790, his hand revised the statement of Faith, and form of church organization there determined upon. He was, therefore, one of the great fathers in this country of medicine; of the Republic; of the Temperance Reform and of the Universalist church.

Stuart Theatre Company.

"OUR BACHELORS."

Did they laugh last night? No, they roared and screamed with delight. The Opera House was packed full and never did a play give more genuine satisfaction than "Our Bachelors." The members of the company seemed to catch the infection and exerted themselves to the utmost to please the large audience present and they succeeded—fun reigned supreme. Edwin Stuart in the character of Prof. Bangle had a part that fitted him like a glove and gave us an inimitable portrayal of an eccentric bachelor who wants to marry every women he meets. Lilah Stuart, as the fascinating young widow, Mrs. Clinton, was superb. Her acting of this character is absolutely faultless. Judge Jowler, a confirmed old bachelor, was capitally acted by Fred W. Barnard. The landlady, Mrs. Mouser, was played by Miss Jessie Crisp, and she was a "capital patern of a landlady" indeed. Miss Grace Warren made a splendid Bella and Miss Manda Barnard was coy and demure as Clara. W. W. Bittner was very good in the drunken scene of Ed. Waring, and Dr. Bruce met excellent treatment at the hands of Cary Fant. The entire company is very evenly balanced and their plays are rendered with smoothness and precision. To-night the celebrated comedy in four acts, entitled "Foggs Ferry," in which Lilah Stuart will appear in her charming portrayal of "Chip." All the company in the cast.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE for October is a strong Number from every point of view. It is important, attractive, and richly illustrated. C. H. Farnham concludes his interesting account beautifully illustrated, of his canoe trip along the coast of Labrador. William Hamilton Gibson contributes an instructive paper, entitled "Back-yard Studies," with five charming illustrations. In the series of "Great American Industries" the third paper treats of hop-growing and the manufacture of malt liquors, and is amply illustrated. George Parsons Lathrop describes the city of Hartford, giving especial attention to the "Nook Farm" literary group consisting of Mark Twain, Charles Dudley Warner, and Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe. The number contains another instalment of Goldsmith's play, "She Stoops to Conquor", with thirteen illustrations. In the Editors Easy Chair are two letters writteu by Thomas Carlyle to the Hon. Beverly Tucker in 1846 and 1850, and here published for the first time. One of these, treating of the anti-slavery agitation, is the most important and characteristic of Mr. Carlyle's lettes that has been brought to light since his death.
